Recycle Christmas Trees

Amanda Kain, Catawba County's Waste Reduction Coordinator reminds us that recycling is an easy and environmentally friendly way to dispose of used live Christmas trees.

Completely remove decorations and place the non-decorated trees at a dumpster for pick up by the City. Do not block the dumpsters or the recycling bins.

The trees will be picked up Between December 26 and January 17, 2020. The trees are then recycled as mulch.

The Hickory Museum of Art Invites You

Come out and join us for Coffee in the Coe in the Hickory Museum of Art. We meet every other Thursday at 10:30 AM and conclude by noon. Everyone is invited, whether you think you know anything about art or not!

Associate Director Clarissa Starnes organizes Coffee in the Coe, which is named for the gallery in which the group meets most often. Inspiration for the sessions came from the European coffee houses of the early 1900's where people sat discussing a broad range of ideas, including art. She thought, "When do people now get together to discuss art? And how can HMA facilitate doing this in a safe no-right-or-wrong environment?" Coffee in the Coe is structured as an answer to those questions.

HMA Members: Free | Non-Members: $5.

Your Neighbors Recommend

Two of our HW residents have been using Sherra Pierre's cleaning services for some time. They both recommend her to other Huntington Woods residents, saying that she comes through the door smiling with her cleaning tools and supplies in hand ready to work. They find her to be smart, responsible, honest, friendly and energetic. Sherra Pierre, 828.381.0779
